

Accc Medical Office Transcription Scheduling

In Washington, American transcription work is often done by a team of transcriptionists who are trained in the medical field. This ensures that the transcription is accurate and that the transcriptionist is familiar with the medical terminology. The transcriptionist will listen to the audio recording and type out the text. The transcriptionist will then review the transcription for accuracy and make any necessary corrections. The transcriptionist will then upload the transcription to the medical office's database. The medical office will then use the transcription to schedule the patient's appointment.
